FARMERS INVEST IN LIBERTY BONDS AND SAVE NATION

BACK UP YOUR BOY IN TRENCHES BY LOANING UNCLE SAM MONEY.

HIT A BLOW FOR FREEDOM

Future of America Depends on Men Who Till Soil—Put Your Savings in the Safest Place in World.

This is a patriotic appeal to farmers. Your sons have gone to France to fight freedom's battles. But it has not been brought home to you that it is the duty of those who remain at home to support the government and thereby back up the soldiers in the trenches with every dollar you can spare. Your duty does not end when you increase production so the fighting men may be fed.

Unless every American citizen does his patriotic duty in purchasing Liberty Bonds Uncle Sam cannot clothe, feed, equip and maintain the army in the field. One of the strongest arguments advanced in defending the farmer for not having bought Liberty Bonds more heavily in the first two issues is that he was doing for his country more than his share in investing money in the effort to increase production than could have been done in lending the money to the government.

The argument is good in so far as it goes, but it does not go far enough. The farmer is not the only producer who is helping the nation by speeding up production. Every manufacturer who contributes to the vast array of supplies necessary for the comfort, health and success of the men in the trenches fighting the most cruel and heartless foe civilization ever faced might make the same claim. And if it was allowed what would become of the Liberty Loan?

Why have many farmers not yet invested in Liberty Bonds so freely as others? Because, owing to the comparative isolation of farm life, they have not caught the patriotic infection which leads others, in city and town, to put their last cent into bonds and to buy them on credit at the banks and pay for them out of their savings. Such persons must understand that Uncle Sam is calling for help. The government appeals for a loan from the farmer and all other patriotic citizens.

Lives will be saved by every dollar a farmer invests in a Liberty Bond. The war will be shortened and disaster will be rendered impossible. No class of American citizens has a more glorious page in the history of America than the man who tills the soil. Once he is aroused to the dire need of the country he will invest every spare dollar in Liberty Bonds.

No class of citizens is more interested in the outcome of the war than are farmers. Farming cannot be carried on with the ocean closed to commerce. The highways of the sea must be safe or the farmer cannot safely engage in growing his crops and raising stock. There are enough retired farmers enjoying from their lands annual incomes smaller than they would receive if they would invest in Liberty Bonds.

Farmers, do you know that $10,000 invested in Liberty Bonds will pay the owner a better return for his money than if he invested it in farm lands and rented the lands? Do you know that the bondowner may borrow more freely on them at the banks than he can upon lands? Do you know that no investment can compare in security and safety with government bonds?

The cause of freedom needs every cent that farmers can raise to send the soldiers to France equipped, fed, protected, to destroy Prussian militarism, break the power of the saber rattlers of Potsdam and bring peace to the world.

When it comes to duty the farmer must stand shoulder to shoulder with his fellows. The fate of the nation is at stake. The future of civilization hangs in the balance. Arouse, farmers of America, and strike a mighty blow for liberty, for justice, for freedom and for peace.

About Advice.

The worst thing about advice, observes a writer, is that those who are qualified to give it never do, and those who insist upon serving you with a full, seven-course table d'hôte meal of it, always prove to be the worst of chefs.

The Indian Cashew Tree.

Besides the nuts used in confectionery the Indian cashew tree yields an insect-repelling gum, a juice that makes indelible ink, and three kinds of oil, one edible, the others used to tan fishing nets and preserve wood.

Shortest-Lived People.

The natives of New Guinea are the shortest lived people in the world, which is attributed to their diet of the larvae of certain beetles and their practice of drinking sea water.

Chew All You Bite Off.

Here is a word of advice for the bond purchaser: Don't bite off more than you can chew. Your Government doesn't want you to "strap" yourself or run into financial difficulties trying to pay for a bond. Buy one small enough so you will be able to pay for it in the allotted time without having to borrow to meet the obligation. Its value will represent your savings for that period of time. If your circumstances won't permit of you purchasing a $1,000 Bond, buy a $500 one, or a $100 Bond, or one for only $50. Don't complicate our already complicated financial problem by assuming a debt you can't pay.

THE HORRORS OF WAR

Those who have not experienced the horrors of war only know of its terrors by "hear-say," but even then it's bad enough. But terrible as death on the battlefield may be, it has no more terrors than some other things, a life of grinding, pinching poverty, for instance. Death amidst the roar and crash of battle is frightful, but death is at least mercifully the end. But to live and struggle on from day to day in poverty, possibly under a load of debt, but little hope, just struggling along wearing the life away by inches, that takes courage and is enough to try the stoutest heart. The way to avoid this is by systematic saving. Our bank will do its best to save you from a fate worse than the horrors of war.
